Challenges

Activities are being conducted under difficult circumstances due to the persisting risk of contagion and the logistical challenges of implementation under the current context.

In particular, the main challenge has been to organize skills development training activities given the existing risk of spread of the corona virus.

Additionally, given the huge impact on livelihood and employment by the COVID-19, as highlighted in the many impact assessment studies conducted by various government agencies and IGOs, the financial resources availability remains limited. This calls for further attention to the beneficiary selection process.
